DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include any reference sign(s) mentioned in the description. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claim 21 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 13, "of" (2nd occurrence) should be deleted; and in line 14, apparently "pistons" (2nd occurrence) should be - - cylinders - -. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 12-14 and 21-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pankratz et al.

In regard to claims 12 and 21, 22 the Pankratz et al. reference discloses a “product filler machine” (Fig. 3) comprising, a “support stand” 10, a “product reservoir” 24 having a plurality of “openings” 54, a plurality of product “dispensing valves” 64, a plurality of product dispensing “pistons” 48 and “cylinders” 30, and “adjustable means” 124 via hydraulic actuator 100, as claimed. Further, in regard to the claim limitation of being “detachable”, the device is capable of being assembled and disassembled (see col. 7, line 64- col. 8, line 36).

In regard to claims 13 and 14, see “flange” connection 62 in Figure 5.

In regard to claim 23, “individual adjustment” is attained via handwheel 140.

In regard to claim 24 see “pneumatic actuator” 80.

In regard to claims 25 and 26, see “conveyor” 20 and “nozzles” 28A-D in Fig. 1.

In regard to claim 27, the “conveyor” 20 has sequential movement (see col. 8, lines 37-65).

In regard to claims 28-33, see Figure 2, which shows a duplicate setup as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pankratz et al.

In regard to claims 1-11, the Pankratz et al. reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed (discussed supra), but does not disclose the adjustable rack having threaded adjustment. it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to control the adjustable rack of the Pankratz et al. device by "computer control", "mechanically", "electromagnetically", "pneumatically" or "hydraulically", since it has been held that broadly providing a mechanical or automatic means to replace manual activity which has accomplished the same result involves only routine skill in the art. In re Venner, 120 USPQ 192.

Claims 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pankratz et al.

The Pankratz et al. reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed (discussed supra), but does not disclose having three-way dispensing valves. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the dispensing valve three-way, since applicant has not disclosed that a three-way valve rather than a piston valve solves any stated problem and it appears that the invention would perform equally well with a piston valve.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Bryd et al. and Abe et al. references pertain to various dispensers, similar to Applicants' device.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15-17 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
